Continuing Growth Reported At Lac La Biche United Church Meet

LAC LA BICHE — The annual meeting of Lac la Biche United Church was held Thursday of last week at Lac la Biche Memorial Hall. The meeting began with a congregational family supper with about 160 persons in attendance. The Women's Association and the local CGIT group catered to the supper. Following the meal, the younger children were entertained by films at the United Church. Before the business meeting, the choir presented a number of anthems.

Jack Olstad, clerk of the session, presented the report of this committee who have the responsibility of the spiritual oversight of the congregation. Mr. Olstad reported on the record of pastoral services of visitation, baptism, marriage, burial and Sunday worship.

The record of members and adherents was also considered showing a gradual growth. Mr. Olstad encouraged laymen to take up opportunities for participation and leadership in the church.

Hector Linnell presented the financial statement of the committee of stewards who are charged with the oversight of the temporal affairs of the Church. His comparative figures on the last three years showed continuing growth in the financial statistics of the church. The congregation approved a submission of the stewards to seek a budget figure of $4,800. The degree of mission assistance being received by the whole field was also reviewed. Mr. Munro commented that a district board has been formed, that will relieve the local board of field-wide responsibilities which it has assumed in past years.

Mrs. S. Hamar, president, presented the report of the Women's Association. Her remarks reviewed the association's basic objectives, 1960 projects and finances and plans for 1961.

Mrs. Harold Mawson, superintendent, presented the Sunday School report. She thanked the teachers for their co-operation and commented on a generally successful year and increased attendance.

Margo Shanks, president, presented the report of the CGIT reviewing their membership, activities and their financial statement.

Miss V. Stan, counsellor for the Explorers, girls' group, reported on their activities and progress.

Elected to the session was H. Lett. Elected to the committee of stewards were P. Bouchard, Peter Gaberal and C. Bracken.

Mr. Munro extended thanks to the retiring committee of stewards members, A. Schiewe, J. Stewart and Floyd McMillian. Thanks were also extended to Mrs. Lett, the church organist. In his report the minister commented favorably on the growing good will being enjoyed by the church throughout the district and the enthusiasm within the fellowship. The trend of enthusiasm points up the likelihood of approaching the erection of a new church in the not too distant future.

The Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

Following are a few factors to consider in selecting an electric floor polisher:

1. It should be easy to control (some are inclined to run away on you — especially in older models. This however, has been improved in most makes).

2. It should be designed so that it can be operated very close to corners and walls.

3. Some are a little noisier than others — this perhaps is a minor factor.

4. The handle should be convenient and well balanced.

5. Buffing pads and any other pads should be easy to fasten and remove.

B. McCutcheon

6. As a general rule, the heavier machines do a more preferable job of polishing: the lighter one on the other hand, might be more serviceable if much carrying of the machine was necessary.

7. Three-brush machines of course, will do a faster job in polishing, but unless exceptionally large areas are to be done, they are not too practical. It is much more difficult to get around furniture and into corners with a three-brush than with a two-brush machine. A salesman in one of the larger stores which carried both machines, recommended the three-brush as more useful commercially than to the housewife. He said that his wife had tried both and much preferred the two-brush.

8. It is always wise to purchase one made by a reliable manufacturer so you can always be sure of service and repairs.

Use Of:— Floor polishers are often used for applying wax as well as polishing. Special application pads are available for this task, but results are not as good as when wax is applied by hand. Using the polisher, you usually get an uneven application, heavy at first and thinner as you go along. The polisher can be used for cleaning and removing old wax from a floor — by the use of steel wool pads (usually purchased extra) and solvent. How often this is done of course, will depend on what traffic the floor gets. A hardwood floor would seldom need thorough cleaning more than twice a year. Solvent should not be used on rubber tile or asphalt tile coverings, but is especially successful on wood and can be used on regular linoleums.

Care Of:— The floor polisher should not be left sitting flat on its brushes as this will spread and flatten them. When the brushes become soiled they can be washed with warm water and a pure soap — not a synthetic detergent. To keep the bristles from spreading at this time, a rubber ring may be placed around the brush so that it will be held tightly until dry.

Helen Sullivan and Adolph Dziwenka Seal Wedding Vows With Two Rings

LAC LA BICHE—At a double-ring ceremony in St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church, Thorhild, Miss Helen Lucy Sullivan became the bride of Mr. Adolf John Dziwenka.

Rev. Father Korewa read the marriage vows for the youngest daughter of Mrs. Emma Sullivan and the late Mr. Ferdinand Sullivan of Plamondon and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dziwenka of Thorhild.

Bouquets of pink and white roses were arranged in the church for the ceremony, in which the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Emmanuel Labonte. She chose a floor-length princess gown of white delustered satin with lace appliques on the skirt. The bodice was designed with a bateau neckline and lily point sleeves. Her shoulder length veil misted from a crown of crystal and seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book garlanded with roses.

Miss Elsie Horsford, the bride's niece, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a waltz-length coral frock of chiffon over taffeta, complemented with a white feather hat and carried a nosegay bouquet of pink and white roses.

Mr. Ernie Dziwenka, the groom's brother, was best man.

At a reception at the groom's home, Mr. Polanski proposed a toast to the bride.

For a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the bride changed to a wool suit of green tartan and black accessories.

Mrs. G. Diesel On CBC TV:

Borrows Life From Famous Relative

Wins $300 For Knowledge Of German Inventor

ALBERTA SCHOOL TEACHER, Mrs. Gladys Diesel won a jackpot of $300 for her efforts on the CBC television show, "Live A Borrowed Life." Host on the program, Charles Templeton is inviting panellists to identify the life Mrs. Diesel borrowed, that of Dr. Rudolph Diesel, a German inventor of the diesel engine. The brilliant man's father and Mrs. Diesel's husband's grandfather were brothers, a primary reason for the choice of subject. The CBC paid all expenses for the trip to Toronto where she appeared as a contestant. Mrs. Diesel is teaching at Rich Valley, near Gunn, but operates Owl River Resort, near La la Biche, with her husband, a popular spot for pickerel anglers each summer. She is the author of the book, "Salute To The Past", and a number of short stories.

Mrs. Gladys Diesel was quite excited when her friends from Devon, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Windrum, brought her the message that she had been chosen to be a secret guest challenger on the "Live A Borrowed Life" program in Toronto. The news spread quickly and the teaching staff at Rich Valley school kindly gave her encouragement and helped her gather information, some translated from the German language, about her subject, Dr. Rudolph Diesel.

Mrs. Diesel had always been quite interested in Dr. Diesel's great invention as Dr. Diesel's father and her husband's grandfather were brothers. Rudolph's branch of the family stayed in Europe while Louise's branch migrated to America in the late 1600's. Many stories were told by relatives back and forth across the Atlantic, and especially after Rudolph's death.

Mrs. Diesel found that Dr. Rudolph Diesel was born in Paris March 18, 1858, and had his early education there, but when war broke out in 1870 his parents moved to London and sent their eldest son Rudolph, to relatives in Augsburg, Germany, to be raised. He attended the celebrated Augsburg School of Industry there and later the Munich Polytechnical School where he had the wonderful teachers, Linde and Schroter. Under the scientific teaching of these men he set himself to his life-long task and never ceased to labor and think of it afterwards.

He married Martha Flosche in 1883. She was born in 1860 and died in 1944. They had three children, one daughter and two sons. One son, Dr. Eugene Diesel, is an author.

Dr. Rudolph Diesel left Munich where he was a professor and took commercial work to improve his finances. He worked in Switzerland and was manager of a refrigerating equipment company in Paris for Linde. He later went to Berlin for the same company. He returned to Munich and published his first book, "The Theory and Construction of a Rational Heat Motor", in 1893. This caused much talk and he had many enemies who were jealous and envious of his successful experiments and book. They tried to obstruct his work in every way possible. Rudolph also had true life-time friends. Among them were Hiendrich Von Buzz, Linde, Schroter, Fredrich Krupp, Zuner and the Augsburg machine shop men. These men provided a place for him to work in the Augsburg Machine shop where he labored five years and completed his first engine in 1897, a 25 h.p. unit. It was tested in the same year by Schroter at Augsburg in Essen and shown to the public for the first time at Munich in 1898.

In 1899 his friends provided him with a work shop, giving him full control of it, to manufacture his own engines. He was very successful and sold his patents in Europe. He saw his engines installed in submarines or U boats as they were then called and in cargo boats for France. They were afterwards used in the First World War by America also.

In 1898, Adolphus Brusch, a brewer of St. Louis, Missouri, bought all rights and patents to manufacture the engines in Canada and the USA from Rudolph for 1 million gold marks. He made the first engines to be used commercially in regular service. His first engine was a two cylinder, 450 lb. unit.

In 1900 Rudolph told a Paris congress how his engine worked and in this age, every person on the Rudolph had worked without ceasing and his great dream was now a reality. He was now a wealthy man but in the midst of his great success he was made to suffer the cruelest mental torture that his jealous enemies could conjure up from their evil brains to heckel him with.

He made two trips to America, in 1904 and again in 1912, he journyed to our land with the director of the Munich Museum and gave lectures here. Our people gave him the highest acclaim, showing him great respect and showering honors upon him wherever he went. This was probably the only period of his life that he was allowed to enjoy the fruits of his long years of toil. He planned to use part of the proceeds from the sale of his patents to help less fortunate mankind, but he was not spared to this end.

In 1913 he published his second book. "The Genesis of Diesel Motors". In 1913 the British parliament requested him to come to England for a secret conference and on his way there is an Antwerp — Harwich mail steamer on the night of Sept. 30, 1930, he was forced overboard and drowned in the English Channel. Some authorities insinuate that he took his own life but his family and friends feel that he was murdered by his vicious enemies and thus was brought to an end the most brilliant mind of his time. In 1932 his photograph was hung in the Hall of Honor in Munich, Germany.

The CBC paid all expenses on first class air passage to and from Toronto for Mrs. Diesel. All expenses were paid by them while she was in Toronto, also while staying in the Park Plaza Hotel, one of Toronto's finest. She was entertained at an elaborate dinner and treated like a Queen by the people of Toronto with whom she came in contact. The magic wand was waved, the footmen were all there, a wonderful Pegasus instead of a chariot carried her and for a few minutes, a woman representing her own loved northwestern land, appeared to all the people across the length and breadth of Canada. Regrettable that she was too old to wear glass slippers and the clock struck too soon!

New Approach To Gully Filling

Last fall a new approach to gully control was tried by several Alberta municipal districts and counties. This took the form of demonstrations in which the municipal graders were used in the work.

The demonstrations were a great success, according to C. R. E. Johnson, assistant extension engineer, and the graders did an excellent job. A flat bottom about 15 feet wide was cut by the blade of the grader and the sides were back-sloped until the width at the top of the ditch was between 30 and 40 feet across.

After a ditch has been made, the waterway should be seeded to a mixture of fescue, brome and a nurse crop such as oats. The grass impedes the water flow, binds the soil together and increases erosion resistance. Mr. Johnson says that slopes up to 5 per cent incline can be grassed successfully.

During heavy rains or spring run-off an abnormal amount of water flows down the natural slopes of the land and collects in rivulets in the draws. From here it follows the natural drainage systems on the farm. Once the top soil has been washed away a considerable amount of erosion will occur and the gully head will gradually eat farther and farther into the land, becoming wider and deeper as it progresses. At this stage the gully may "stabilize" but the damage has already been done.
